

County Employee Interview - Sharon Daniels

I spoke with Ms. Sharon Daniels, Social Worker for the Iredell County Department of Social Services. Ms. Daniels has worked for DSS for twenty years. Her responsibilities include in-home family services and assessing the risk of safety of children in various home environments.

When asked why she choose to work in county government, Ms. Daniels stated that she loves to care for others and has a caring spirit. Although her job can be stressful and often they do not have enough resources, she likes the flexibility the job offers.

If someone is interested in becoming a social worker, Ms. Daniels suggests they earn a four-year degree (preferably a Master's). When asked for suggestions about improving the county, she would like to see more raises for employees and additional resources overall.

Respectfully submitted,

Jadan Griffin
